

THE NEWEST REMEDY FOR BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM AND DROPSY

Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and loins, distressing bladder disorders and sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints it causes lumbago, rheumatism, gout or sciatica. This is the time to send Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for large trial package of "Anuric."

BETTER THAN A BAROMETER

As Reliable Weather Prophet, Old Ram Fully Justified Confidence Put in Him by His Owner.

In the Countryside Magazine, Miss Margaret Woodward tells how a farmer's barometer proved its effectiveness as a weather predictor, and confounded science. Every New England farmer, she says, knows that cattle and sheep are trustworthy weather prophets.

There is a story of a party of scientific men who were making observations on a ledge near which was a flock of sheep. The professors settled a great many questions relating to natural science to their own satisfaction. As they wished to make another trip to the ledge the next day, the weather became a matter of interest to them. One of their number studied the barometer carefully, and announced to the waiting group that tomorrow's weather would be fine.

Thereupon the old farmer who was within hearing distance remarked with a genuine Yankee drawl, "I dunno how you fellows air so cock-sure about the weather tomorrow, but if that old ram yonder keeps his rump to the wind'ard, it's jes bound to rain."

And rain it did, much to the discomfiture of the professors.—Youth's Companion.

The Seat of Trouble.

"Toothache?"
"Yeah. Something terrible."
"Which tooth is it?"
"That new false tooth in front. I had it filled with gold so that it would look natural, and the gold doesn't show a bit. Wouldn't that give you a pain?"

No Change.

"It's a scandal the way women dress nowadays. Our grandmothers never wore any such immodest garments."
"Perhaps not, but I'd be willing to bet that our grandfathers made just as big a fuss over the things they did wear as you men do about the present styles."

The Uncertain Future.

During a theatrical engagement at Manchester, England, Kumble and Lewis were walking one day along the street when a chimney sweeper and his boy came up. The boy stared at them with open mouth and exclaimed: "They be play actors."

"Hold your tongue," said the old sweep, "you don't know what you may come to yourself."

Bolivar Women Endorse "Outside" Treatment For Children's Colds

Instead of Dosing Delicate Little Stomachs They Recommend the External Treatment—Vap-O-Rub.

Mrs. M. J. Porter, and Mrs. J. Jacques, of Bolivar, Mo., and Mrs. M. E. Ferrel, on Rural Route No. 2, like all intelligent mothers, believe internal medicines are bad for children, and yet cold troubles must have some kind of treatment. When Vick's Vap-O-Rub was introduced here from the South last season these ladies found it filled the need exactly. Vap-O-Rub is a salve, which, when applied to the warm skin of the body, is vaporized by the body heat. These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carry the medication through the air passages to the lungs, and, in addition, Vick's is absorbed through the skin, relieving the tightness and soreness. This two fold action makes Vap-O-Rub useful for a wide variety of inflammations—from inflammations of the air passages and lungs, such as head colds, catarrh, asthmatic troubles, bronchitis, and deep chest colds—down to inflammations of the skin and tissues, such as

MR. FOX TELLS A STORY.

"Mr. Fox will certainly be interested in the story of the boy's cap," said Jack Rabbit, when the time came for him to go to the fox's home on the hill again, "and I shall have to tell him how unexpectedly I found an illustration for his lesson that happiness is largely the result of being contented."

The day was a very pleasant one and Mr. Fox in his home on the hill was thinking of Jack Rabbit and wondering how he was and what luck he had had in applying the wisdom he had given him. "It is so fine a day," said the fox to himself, "that I think I will walk out a way and meet Jack Rabbit and we can chat as we walk along."

And so it happened that Jack Rabbit had not more than half completed the journey when he met Mr. Fox. "Good morning," they both said, and each asked after the health of the other.

"It is such a fine day," said the fox, "that it seems to me that it would be pleasant to sit for a while on the bank of the pond and sun ourselves."

"It would, indeed," replied the rabbit.

"Good Morning," They Both Said.

bit, "and I feel that it would do me good. I am afraid that I am staying too much indoors since my illness and that lack of exercise is making me lazy."

"We will sit by the pond," said the fox, "and I will tell you a story which will very aptly illustrate a bit of wisdom that every animal in the wood ought to know and which every boy and girl ought to have taught them."

So the rabbit and the fox sought a place on the edge of the pond which was sheltered by bushes and which hid them from the sight of any passer-by. It was indeed, the same place where they sat when they discovered the duck who pretended to be a doctor.

They had got themselves well seated and comfortable, when the rabbit said to the fox, "Well, now for the story."

Clearing his throat with a loud "A-hem," which rather startled the rabbit, the fox began.

"This story was first told centuries ago, and has been repeated thousands of times, but that affects neither its truthfulness nor the lesson which it teaches. Once upon a time there was a frog who lived in a pool and near the pool in a hole in the ground, there lived a field mouse. The frog could hop farther than any of his mates and his croak was louder than that of any other frog in the pool, and he was generally looked upon as the leading frog of the community. The mouse, who was known to her companions as Gray Mouse, was very plain and very quiet, and no one had ever known her to take any particular interest in anything or anybody until one day she saw the frog and fell madly in love with him.

"She told her family how handsome he was, how green his back and how shiny, and how white his vest was, and how far he could jump, and, above all, how musical his voice sounded when just at nightfall he led all the frogs in their evening song."

"Her family, realizing how ill-mated would be the frog and a mouse, frowned very much upon her affection and used every influence to keep her from loving the frog, and even threatened to send her away to another field to live if she persisted in spending so much time in his company."

"Nor was the frog very much flattered by the attentions of the mouse, for he felt that he was much too important an individual to seriously consider marrying so unpretentious an animal as the little gray mouse."

"I very likely shall marry a beaver or a mink," he said to himself, "and, at any rate, I shall do no more than amuse myself with Gray Mouse until I have found someone more to my liking."

"Gray Mouse was made quite unhappy by her failure to make the frog declare an affection for her, but in the absence of that she planned out a very original scheme she thought would make her and the frog inseparable."

"She had noticed how large and unwieldy were the webbed feet of the frog, and how flat his mouth, and she said to herself: 'He could not untie a knot with his fingers nor bite a cord with his mouth, and if I could tie myself to him he would never be able to get away.'"

"So next day when the frog was asleep in the sun she crept softly up to his side, and with a hair which she had stolen from the tail of a horse pastured in the field where she lived she tied a knot which bound the end of her tail securely to the frog's hind leg."

"There," she said to herself, "we shall never be separated again and he is mine forever."

"Shortly after the frog awakened and found Gray Mouse by his side. He gossiped with her for some time, but every time that she attempted to say anything of love the frog turned the conversation to some other topic. At last, growing tired of the attempts of Gray Mouse to talk on matters which in no way interested him, the frog jumped into the pond. And as he did so, the mouse, being securely tied to him by her tail, was snatched suddenly into the water with him, and as the frog dived deeper into the water she gradually lost her breath and was drowned."

"Well, what a fool of a mouse she was," said Jack Rabbit, as the fox concluded his story.

JAPANESE BOY MOST POLITE

If Youth Does Happen to Forget, Offense Is Not Only Punished, but Due Apology Is Made.

Perhaps you are tired of hearing the Japanese boy is the most polite youth in the world. No wonder! You have had this fact drummed into your ears until the least suggestion of such a thing makes you say or think—Fudge! Perhaps you can endure just one more allusion to this pleasing trait of the young Japanese. If one does chance to forget his manners—a most uncommon occurrence—the offense is not only punished but apologized for. A case is told where a child on the street called a traveler a "foreign devil." This is a common epithet in China and all through the old world. People use this expression as you would call a Chinaman a "heathen Chinese." In the case of this child of Japan he was reproved, a policeman was sent for, who visited the insulted lady and an apology was tendered her for the rudeness of this child. All this politeness and courtesy has not made the Japanese "sis-sy." You know what magnificent fighters they proved themselves in their war with Russia.

ANIMALS BUILD UP CHARACTER OF BOY

Karakula Ewe and Twin Lambs.

Dr. David Starr Jordan of Stanford university offers testimony as to what the care of animals may do in building up the character of a boy, in the lamb playmates of his youth:

"I owe a great deal," he confesses, "to a flock of lambs that were put in my care when I was a boy, and which I cared for for a number of years, shearing them all myself, giving each one a name and keeping account of the amount of wool furnished by each one. Ever since this experience I have regarded natural history as a means of grace to a boy and girl. It can show itself in no better way than by making friends among animals."

BIG EATERS HAVE BAD KIDNEYS AND BACKACHE

Take a Glass of Salts at Once If Your Back Is Hurting or Kidneys and Bladder Trouble You.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.
